

LOOKING FOR ANSWERS?

Go to

www.youthworks.com/roadtripgames

*Life-changing
Christ-centered Mission Trips*

Road Trip Guide-O-Fun

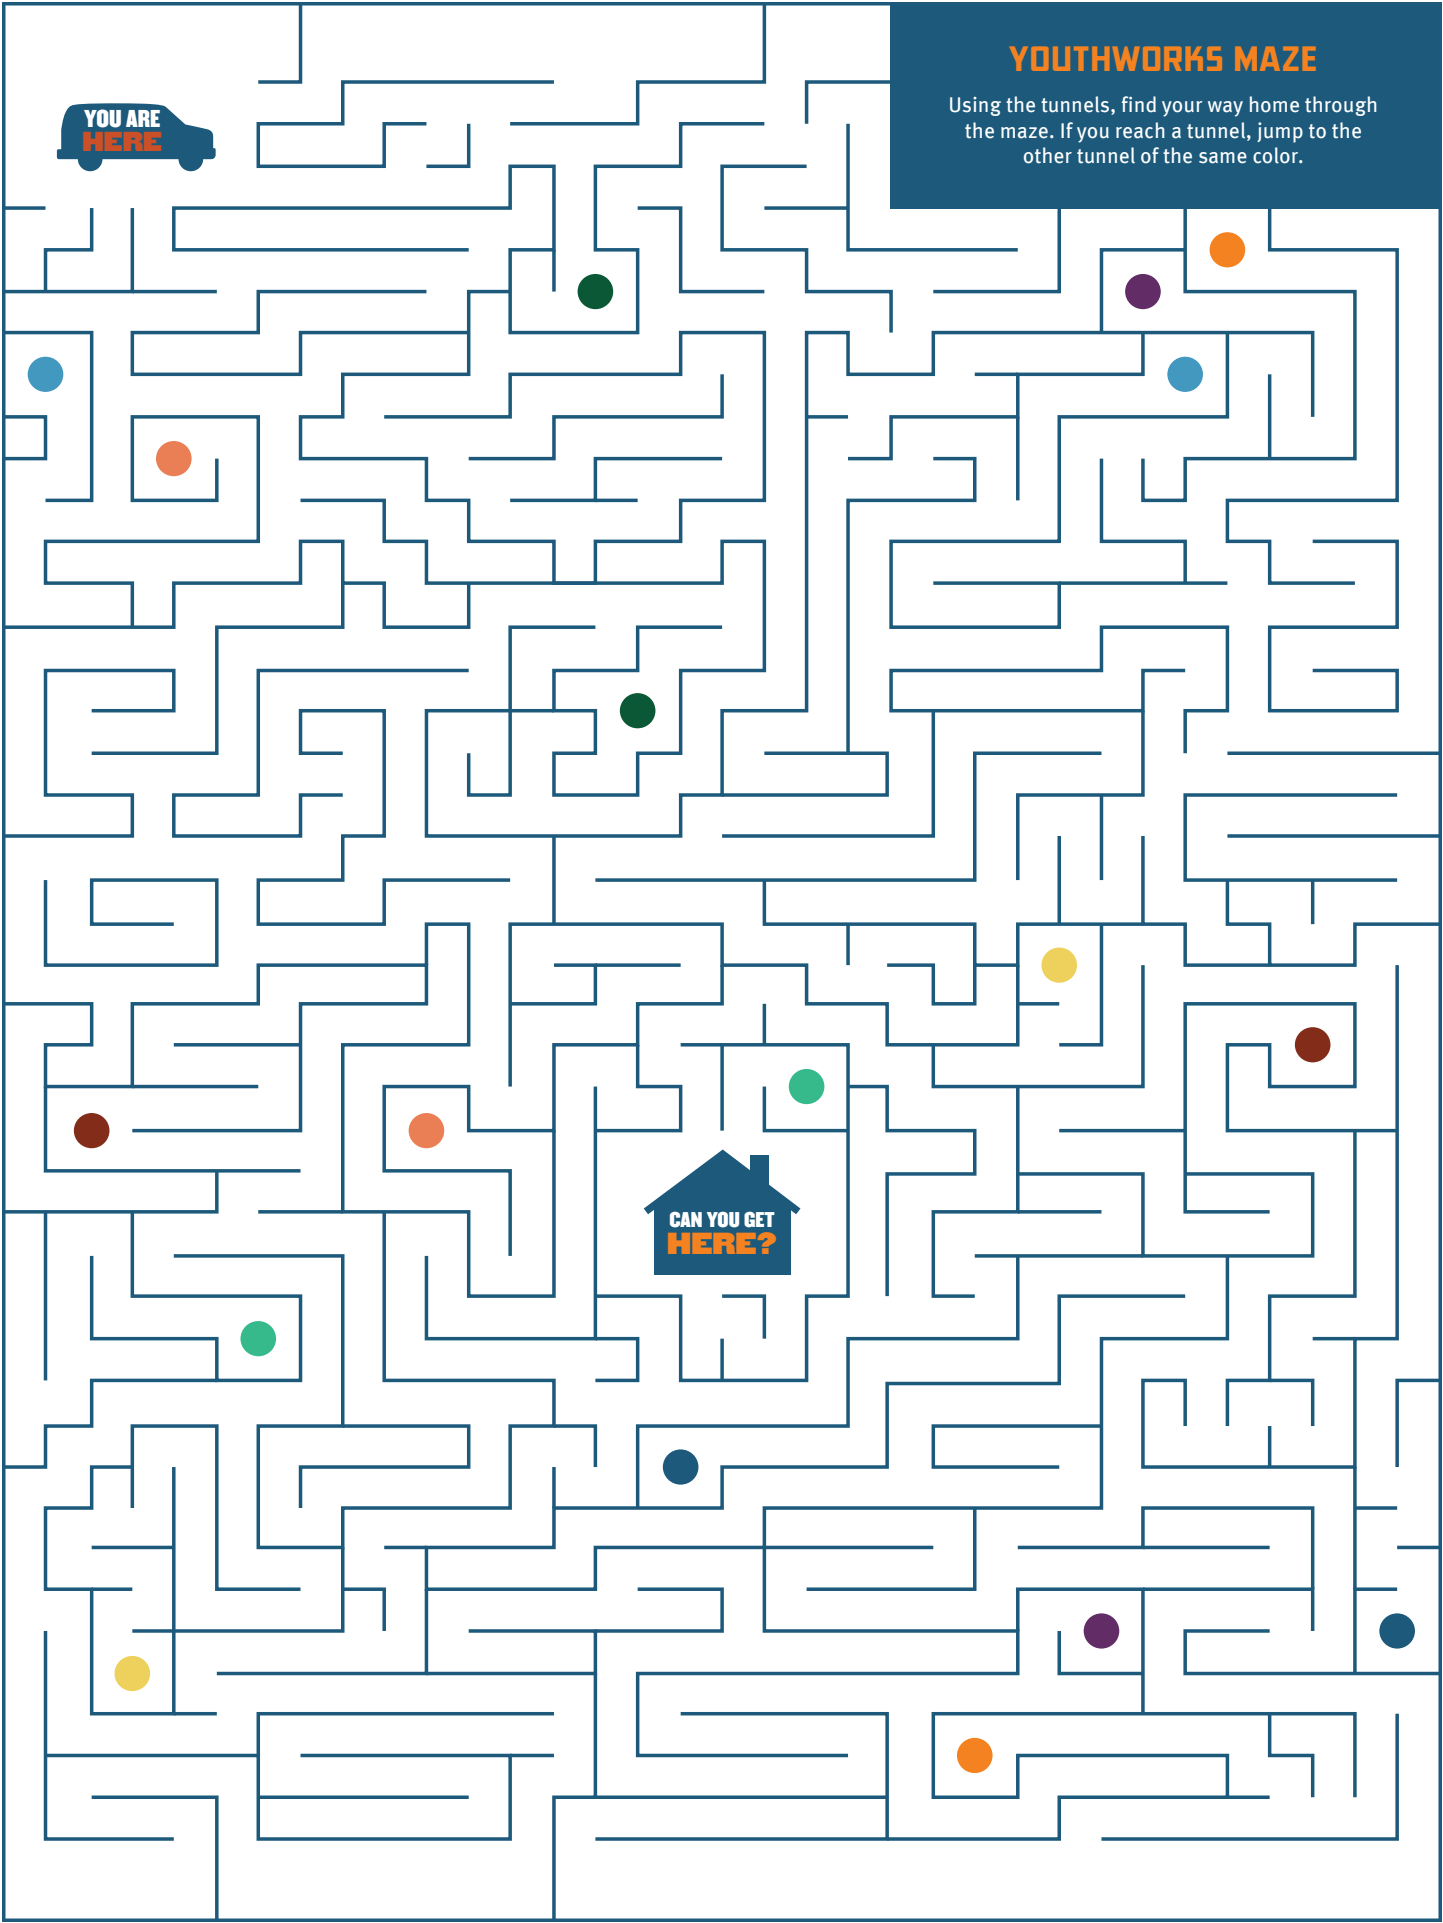

SUMMER2015

YOU ARE HERE

YOUTHWORKS MAZE

Using the tunnels, find your way home through the maze. If you reach a tunnel, jump to the other tunnel of the same color.

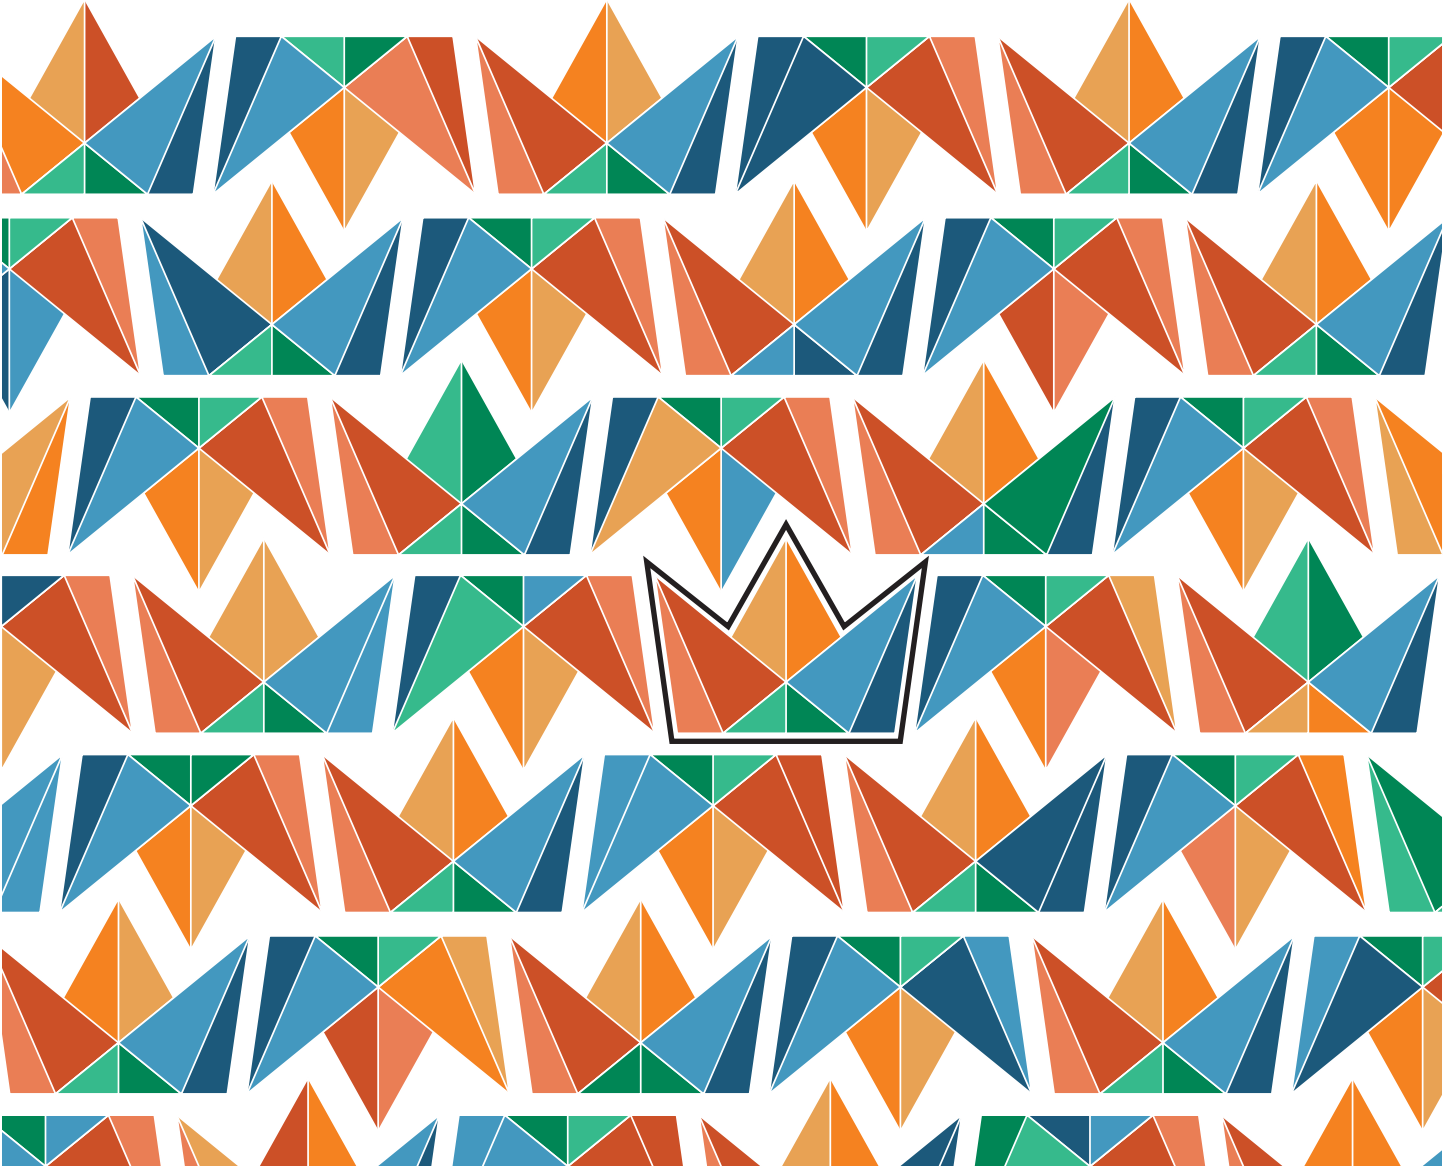

CAN YOU GET
HERE?

UPSIDE-DOWN KINGDOM CROWN HUNT

Jesus came to seek what was lost. Now it's your turn.

We've lost 10 Upside-Down Kingdom Crowns in the pattern on this page! Can you find all 10 crowns without being fooled by imitations with the wrong color pattern? Draw lines around the crowns when you find them. We've helped you with the first one!

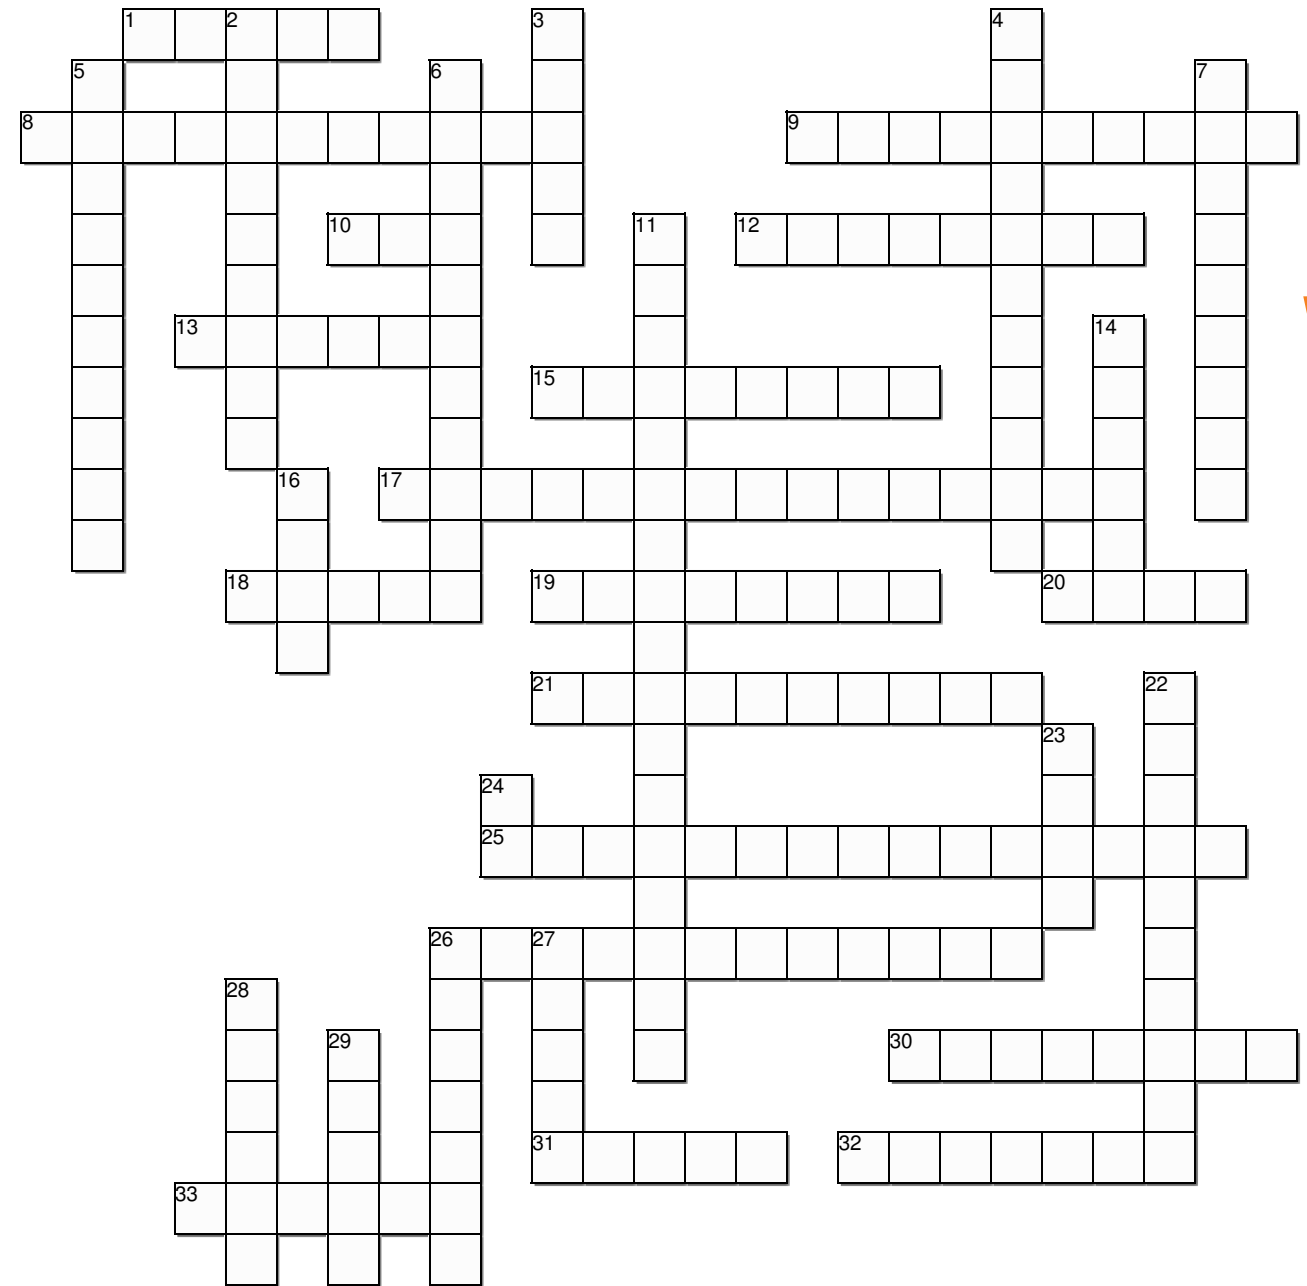

WHAT'S DIFFERENT?

Hopefully the difference people notice in you will be a bit more obvious than the differences in these two pictures. Can you find all 18?

Y CROSS U T H W O R D S

ACROSS

1. Be like _____
8. Your bed this week
9. 4 players, 1 ball
10. Likely mission trip transportation
12. PB and J is the best!
13. worn when preparing food
15. Brushes, scrapers and rollers
17. sells shirts
18. Morning time with God
19. Packed for noon meal
20. Evening together time
21. Eye protectors

25. Event before Club

26. Leading staff member
30. Traveling in van with friends
31. People with name badges
32. Breakfast with syrup
33. Holds everyone's lunches

DOWN

2. Safety in vehicles
3. White or red sauce?
4. A purposeful journey
5. People who help make supper
6. Worn in the kitchen

7. Activity you are doing right now
11. This week's theme
14. Breakfast with milk
16. Jesus washed them
22. Written on staff's shirt
23. 1 Corinthians 13
24. _____ still and know that I am God.
26. Beyond a tan
27. Mexican meal
28. 'Praise the Lord' at YouthWorks
29. 66 Books

ARE WE THERE YET?

So, your face has a red mark from smooshing it against the glass, something (or someone) smells funny, and your body is desperately wanting to flush that liter of Mountain Dew. Need something besides your bladder to think about? Well, here are a few classic road trip games to pass the time.

20 QUESTIONS

Here’s a classic. Have a friend think of something... anything! Ask your friend whether it’s an animal (something living that isn’t a plant), plant (see, plant’s have their own category), or mineral (basically anything else). That question is a freebee. Now you get 20 “yes or no” questions to get what it is. Start general with questions like, “Is it made of metal?” and move toward specific with questions like, “Does it shoot lightning out of its eyes?” Beware of folks who pick things that are a little too specific: “the second molar on the left side of my grandma’s dentures.” That kind of thing is... well, questionable.

MOO!

Passing cows? Roll down the window and yell “moo!” Count how many of them look up at you. (If I were a cow, I’d look.) This is a team event and a good game to play against other vehicles in your caravan.

PADIDDLE

Here’s a game especially for those traveling after sundown. Watch for vehicles with one headlight out. When you see one, yell “padiddle” and tag the ceiling. Yes, it is a race! One point is awarded for every padiddle, but only one person can get a point for each one seen. Watch out for the vehicles with one light dimmer than the other; those don’t count! Neither do motorcycles. If you tag the ceiling in error, you lose one point. But keep an eye out for semi truck padiddles. They’re worth double!

BUILD A WORD

This one is for you word nerds. Start each round by saying a letter. Each person says a letter on his or her turn to build a word. When no more letters can be added to a word, the person whose turn it is loses. For example, if the word “AXE” has been spelt, the player whose turn it is must think of a letter to continue spelling a word. They might say “L”. The following player might say “S”. The next player would lose that round since “AXELS” can’t be extended into another word. If a player bluffs and adds an “P” to “AXELS” the following player must call the bluff before saying a letter. If that player is thinking of a real word, the one who calls the bluff loses. This game can be played elimination style with as many or few players as you want. Before beginning, decide how many rounds players can lose before they are out.

wild wordworks!

Ask a friend to help you fill in the blanks below. Have him or her feed you adjectives, nouns, and names and write each answer in the appropriate blank. When you’ve filled them all in, read the finished result. Use a pencil so you can erase and do it again.

1. It was Tuesday at _____ and _____ was waiting in the _____ for us to come help make breakfast. We didn’t _____ there because it was so early and when we saw the _____ on the _____ waiting to be cooked, we wanted to _____ right back to bed. But, we had to _____, so we put the _____ food in the oven and waited for it to turn _____. When the meal was _____ed just right, we took it out of the oven, put it on a/an _____, and served it to _____. One person said, “_____!” she swallowed it and another person said, “_____!” as he _____ed it, but everyone else seemed to _____ the meal. As people finished eating, we _____ed the dishes with a/an _____, placed them in the _____ sink, and _____ed them with _____-scented soap. After we had finished our kitchen crew duties, we were off to _____, the next thing on our schedule.

2. “Ow! Get off my _____!” _____ shouted. He/She had just spilled _____ on his/her _____ and was feeling very _____. It had been a long trip from _____ and they still had more than _____ miles to go. To make matters worse, _____ was stinking up the vehicle with his/her _____ and _____ was _____ing loudly. _____ decided to ignore them and look out the window. Besides the reflection of _____’s _____, he/she could see a _____ that reminded him/her of something that had happened on the trip: _____ days after their arrival, _____ had tripped over a _____ and landed in a pile of _____s. Everyone on the team saw it and _____ed hysterically. Smiling from the _____ memory, _____drifted _____ off to sleep.